Information about Landras and Partoos

information through the medium Sabine Sangitar from November 9, 2011

In the meantime many things have calmed down on Landras.

The Pioneers on Landras, who are in the adaptation phase now, have for some time had the possibility to connect their 18 aspects whenever they want to. Consequently they can travel with their merkabah, something they really enjoy doing. With that they spread much spirituality, and many inhabitants, who had experienced an inner view before, are being guided into a stable awakening.

It's true that water is still scarce, but this is also becoming more and more stable. Many star travelers and galactic riders are on various planets in order to collect energies and information that they bring to their inhabitants. These now live in bigger communities and work in a kind of spiritual centers. At the moment everything is looking very good.

During the Kryon Festival the ascension of Partoos occurred.

It was a very big challenge for me, for I heard about it during the Eleua transmission and had to decide when to tell the participants about it. So I asked the imminent walk-in, Angel Michael, to announce the ascension of Partoos if he wanted, which he then did.

The ascension of Partoos took place very, very gently. Very little had to be transformed, hardly anything was destroyed. The inner view of the inhabitants there took very long, approximately 22 minutes, which is long in linear time.

The tone sounded completely different than before on Landras.

The inhabitants of Partoos resemble us very much. In their entire work as well, with the exception that they are hermaphroditic. This means that they bear masculine as well as feminine energies in equal parts within. But it is one and the same form.

After the ascension had taken place and the inner view was over enormous joy and euphoria was released, with singing and dancing. This high energy of joy immediately caused another quake. But everything went very gently.

Nevertheless, more evacuations were necessary on Partoos than on Landras. Very many inhabitants were fetched onto the Ashtar ship. Training followed to release energetic patterns and connect aspects - patterns and aspects, which for some reason had not released themselves during the inner view or had not been embedded well enough so that the merkabah could not develop itself fully. Which now already enables the Pioneers of Partoos to travel to Venus.

They do not take material nourishment anymore, but live on light now. This is subject to free will and does not mean that it will be the same with us.

On Landras about one third less inhabitants than on Partoos were evacuated. On Partoos many other beings of other frequencies were also fetched. What I think is very fascinating is that these are now working very closely with the yellow frequency, have connected with it, as sounds are very important to the beings of the yellow frequency as well.

On Partoos much work was done with the energy of grace, which I think is very nice, and at the end of the day this has helped the planet to ascend. In the figurative sense they call it the Kingdom of the Grace Field. In contrast to the Crystal Places they have this area of grace energy that is very similar to the Eleua Energy. Thus the ascension was not really a surprise, for they already knew that this call, this tone would come.

The inhabitants of Partoos were evacuated with their body. After the planet's ascension the colors changed extremely and also the star tetrahedrons are visible. Sherin manifested herself visibly, the Starseed arrived and everyone sang together and a light prayer was said for the planet. The singing of the angels was also audible.

It was also thanks to the grace energy that everything could be carried out very calmly and gently.

It is a bit different on Earth. Because Jesus was with us and doubted in the moment of his betrayal the seed of doubt was sown. The inhabitants of Partoos do not know doubt. That is why it was a bit easier for them.

Nonetheless I think it is impressive that we, even though we know doubt, now are at the very top of the "consciousness list".

I can and want to only speak for the Pioneers of the golden-blue frequency, for this concerns particularly the Pioneers of this frequency. There really are very many who are in deep intention, through that much expands very quickly.

Knotting the Lucifer bond is an excellent example.

Particularly for that the grace energy of Partoos that is being drawn off and is flowing to us now is very helpful to our planet.

On Partoos it was also similar to here before the ascension. For many years they, too, received information that everything will collapse, that certain things and structures will not be able to hold on, that it will come to great changes. And suddenly there was a change and these things were spoken about much more intensively. In linear time it then still took about one and a half years until the ascension had taken place.

Up until then much on the outside had already changed. And now they have the possibility to shape all that is new.

I am one hundred percent convinced that in the adaptation phase here, we, too, as Pioneers will go ahead as example. Will lay tracks again to shape the new Earth. I can imagine that a new education system will develop. There will not be money in this form anymore. Nevertheless there will be a balance between giving and receiving in a different form. I can imagine that human beings will live together in centers or villages and everybody will work according to his ability and skill. Perhaps lay out and care for gardens or similar things. In any case, we will be in demand to lay the tracks here. For all the things that have nothing to do with love, that have something to do with power and suppression will not be able to continue and will break up.

But, seen retrospectively, just as with Landras before it was the energetic patterns that had been embedded that were very helpful for the ascension.

One of the new technologies, for example, makes it possible for the inhabitants to neutralize the harmful substances and all pollution that had, of course, also been triggered by the ascension. With the help of new technology they can create and increase water, and each Pioneer has a star vehicle he can travel with. Not through the universe yet, but they can move from A to B on their planet very quickly with it.

Most inhabitants experienced the transition consciously with their body. Others fell into a kind of coma, and in that time the cells were reprogrammed. Energies were also transmitted to them, particularly grace energy.

The children and young persons will work in their radiant power during and after the ascension. All this will happen with embedded energetic patterns. But they will radiate very much energy that is very helpful to the entire cause.

Basically everything is going similarly to Landras, though in a more intensive form. Everything is transformed immediately and the complete truth shows and reveals itself in the soul.
